Simply navigating to many local news websites prompts a barrage of pop-up ads, autoplaying videos and an unorganized assortment of content. While local news is incredibly important for informing communities, many outlets do not have an optimal digital presence due to a lack of resources as the media landscape continues to shift.

By combining a well-designed website template and guides on how to create a good user experience, Juxtapose helps local news organizations create a website readers enjoy visiting. Designed specifically for local news outlets and their readers' needs, the Juxtapose WordPress theme will attract and keep an audience.

The guides are delivered in an enjoyable, clear way through well-organized text, illustrations and videos, ensuring busy local journalists can get the information they need quickly. Juxtapose provides these resources on a free and easily accessible platform to help local news survive and thrive.

By including a complete theme alongside guides on how to customize it, Juxtapose provides a one-stop-shop for creating a professional local news website.
